4 CCC Teams Advance to NAIA Division II Men's Basketball Championships – Branson, Mo., March 11-17

Evergreen (19-11) vs. Bluefield, Va. (27-6), Wednesday, March 11, 11:45 a.m. PT

The No. 23-ranked Geoducks earned the second of the CCC's two automatic bids by finishing runner-up to regular season co-champion OIT in the CCC Tournament ... this is Evergreen's second NAIA Tournament appearance (and first since the 2001-02 season) ... Geoduck coach Jeff Drinkwine is 40-19 in his two seasons as head coach ... Evergreen is led by CCC MVP Nathan Menefee, a 5-11 guard who ranks No. 2 nationally in scoring (24.4 ppg) ... Menefee was joined on the All-CCC team by senior forward Nick Moore, who averages 16.0 ppg and 5.2 rpg ... Wednesday's matchup will pit two of the NAIA's highest scoring teams; Bluefield averages a national-best 91.5 ppg, Evergreen ranks 11th (84.5 ppg) ... No. 8-ranked Bluefield, which won the Appalachian Athletic Conference regular season crown with an 18-0 mark, had a 20-game win streak stopped in the AAC Tournament title game, losing 86-85 to King College ... Bluefield had three players on the All-AAC first team, including MVP guard Curtis Dixon (18.0 ppg) and forward Omar Reed (9.7 rpg) ... Johnny Witherspoon was named the AAC Defensive Player of the Year ... Bluefield College is located in Bluefield, Va.

Oregon Tech (28-5) vs. Iowa Wesleyan (20-10), Wednesday, March 11, 7:45 p.m. PT

The No. 7-ranked Hustlin' Owls are the defending NAIA Division II champion ... OIT shared the CCC regular season title with Eastern Oregon and captured the CCC Tournament title for the first time since the 2005-06 season ... OIT is making its 11th NAIA Division II tournament appearance, all under veteran head coach Danny Miles (875 career wins) ... the Owls have the most wins (25-8) of any program in the NAIA Division II tournament ... OIT won NAIA Division II titles in 2004 and 2008 ... the Hustlin' Owls are led by the guard combo of senior Jjuwon Hogges (18.9 ppg) and Justin Parnell (15.5 ppg) ... Christian Cavanaugh ranks No. 1 nationally in field goal percentage (.681) ... OIT was ranked No. 1 nationally for the first five polls of the season ... Iowa Wesleyan (Mt. Pleasant, Iowa), ranked No. 25, is led by Midwest Collegiate Conference MVP Brett Humpal, a senior forward who leads the team in scoring (20.1 ppg), rebounding (8.2 rpg) and assists (4.7 apg) ... Humpal is a two-time second team All-American ... Iowa Wesleyan finished tied for second in the MCC's regular season (13-3) and earned an automatic bid to the national tournament by winning the MCC Tournament.

Warner Pacific (21-8) vs. Grace, Ind. (20-10), Thursday, March 12, 11:45 a.m. PT

The No. 15-ranked Knights are making their fourth consecutive NAIA D-II appearance, all under head coach Bart Valentine ... WPC earned an at-large bid to the national tourney after finishing third in the CCC's regular season standings ... WPC is led by the CCC's Defensive Player of the Year, Kaylone Riley, who leads the nation in blocked shots, and high-scoring forward Adam Moore (20.7 ppg) ... as a team, Warner Pacific ranks second nationally in blocked shots ... Riley is among the nation's leaders in double doubles, with 14 ... Thursday's game will match two of the nation's best big men, as Grace College features Eric Gaff, who leads the nation in rebounding (12.2 rpg) and is 11th nationally in scoring (21.0 ppg) ... Grace finished third in the Mid-Central Collegiate Conference (11-5) and suffered a first-round loss in the conference tournament ... Grace (Winona Lake, Ind.) ranks fifth nationally in rebound margin and 10th nationally in assists ... Jim Kessler was named Coach of the Year in the Mid-Central this season ... Grace went 26-10 and advanced to the Elite Eight of the NAIA D-II tournament last season.

Eastern Oregon (23-7) vs. King, Tenn. (24-7), Thursday, March 12, 2 p.m. PT

The Mountaineers, regular season CCC co-champions, are making their second-ever national postseason appearance following their debut in the NAIA Tournament a year ago ... the Mounties were selected as an at-large entrant and seeded ninth in the tourney ... 10th-ranked EOU is led by a league-high three first-team All-CCC players – guard Kris Groce (15.1 ppg), wing Neil Fryer (14.3 ppg) and post Paul Carollo (10.9 ppg, 9.2 rpg) ... after opening the CCC season with a 2-4 record, EOU won 13 of its last 14 regular season contests to share the CCC title with Oregon Tech (15-5 records) ... head coach Ryan Looney has led EOU to back-to-back CCC regular season crowns ... No. 23-ranked King College, located in Bristol, Tenn., earned an automatic bid by coming from 16 points down in the championship game of the Appalachian Athletic Conference Tournament title game to defeat Bluefield (Va.) 86-85 ... Mark Dockery was named tourney MVP after averaging 15 ppg ... Kyle Savely ranks No. 2 nationally in assists per game (7.1) and 10th nationally in points per game (21.1) ... Savely was a first team All-AAC and All-Defensive team selection.

Quoting the CCC Head Coaches

Jeff Drinkwine, Evergreen:

"It is exciting for us to be in the national tournament. One of the team goals was to get there. It is a great reward for our team for all the work it put in over the course of the year. We are looking forward to the challenge.

"Our first-round opponent appears to be similar in terms of the pace they want to play. They lead the nation in scoring and are third in 3-pointers made per game. That is a concern of ours; we will need to find a way to slow them down, and contest their deep shot attempts. It is a tough draw but when you get to this stage, all teams are going to present a challenge. We as a team want to go out and compete, play hard and represent the school and conference well. We want to show everyone what a quality conference we have with our competitive play.

"A key to our success will be our veteran leadership; we have battled against some of the nation's best this season in our own conference, so I believe we will be prepared. We also believe we will have to force teams to play our style in order to have continued success.

"The field looks very competitive, as it should. The teams that are in the tourney are all certainly deserving. It will be a fun tourney to be part of."

Bart Valentine, Warner Pacific:

"We are very excited to be participating in the national tournament for the fourth year in a row. We have a very tough draw in Grace College out of Indiana. Grace has a strong tournament tradition, having won a national championship in the '90s, and being one of those programs that are often at the tournament. This year they are led by the best big man in the country at our level. Eric Gaff is a 6-10 All-American candidate who leads the nation in rebounding and averages 21 points per game. It should be a classic matchup with Kaylone Riley, who leads the country in block shots and is in the top five in rebounding. This matchup also pits the two best conferences in the nation. The Mid-Central Collegiate Conference has the best overall record in the nation at the national tournament, followed closely by the Cascade Collegiate Conference.

"All four Cascade Collegiate Conference teams should make a good showing, but there are many good teams when you get to nationals. The national title now resides in our conference at Klamath Falls, and our four teams will be trying to keep it right here in the Northwest."

Danny Miles, Oregon Tech:

"We are very excited to be back in the national tournament. Our expectations are that we will play hard and together. Defense and rebounding will be keys for us. It is a very strong field this year; there are 30 teams that could win at least one game. Iowa Wesleyan, our first-round opponent, has won 12 of its last 13 games. They can really shoot the 3, and 6-4 Brett Humpal is a bonafide All-American."

Ryan Looney, Eastern Oregon:

"We are excited to make another trip to the NAIA national tournament. Hopefully we can represent our conference well.

"Our team is more prepared the second time around. We feel like we learned a lot from last year's experience.

"King College will be a very competitive first-round opponent. They have an NCAA Division I transfer point guard. He has the ball in his hands a lot and has made a ton of plays for himself and his teammates."

HIGH-SCORING EVERGREEN GUARD NATHAN MENEFEE NAMED CCC PLAYER OF THE YEAR WPC's Riley Named Top Defender, OIT's Parnell Top Newcomer; NCU's Lipp Tabbed Coach of Year

PORTLAND, Ore. – Nathan Menefee, the No. 2 scorer in NAIA Division II during the regular season, has been voted the 2008-09 Cascade Collegiate Conference Player of the Year, the league office announced Monday.

Other major award winners in balloting of the league's head coaches included junior center Kaylone Riley of Warner Pacific, who was named the Defensive Player of the Year; junior guard Justin Parnell of Oregon Tech, who was voted Newcomer of the Year; and Dave Lipp of Northwest Christian, who was honored as Coach of the Year. Corban and Northwest shared the Team Champion of Character Award, which is based on the ideals of integrity, respect and sportsmanship.

Menefee, a 5-11 junior guard from Tacoma, averaged 24.4 points during the regular season, helping the Geoducks to a fourth-place CCC finish and a berth in the CCC Tournament. Menefee set a single-season school record with eight games of 30 points or more during the regular season. He was joined on the all-league squad by teammate Nick Moore, last year's CCC Newcomer of the Year. Evergreen earned one of the CCC's two automatic bids to the national tournament March 11-17 in Branson, Mo.

Kaylone Riley

Evergreen's Nathan Menefee

"Nate has been a vital part of our success this season," said Evergreen coach Jeff Drinkwine. "Being named the pre-season CCC Player of the Year in October only contributed to Nate's hard work and ability to lead. Nate along with his cast of veteran teammates demonstrated what it takes to be successful in this conference. He has set the standard for all of his current and future teammates, showing by example the importance of sacrificing one's individual goals in order to better the team. His competitive spirit has inspired all of us during course of the season. Nate is a gifted and talented person, and it has been an honor to have the opportunity to coach him."

CCC regular season co-champion Eastern Oregon placed a league-high three players on the all-conference team – senior post Paul Carollo, senior wing Neil Fryer, and senior guard Kris Groce. Oregon Tech, which shared the CCC regular season title with Eastern Oregon, had two players selected to the all-conference team – senior guard Jguwon Hogges and Parnell. Warner Pacific also had two players selected – senior forward Adam Moore and Riley. College of Idaho's Craig McGee, a junior forward, rounded out the 10-person all-conference squad.

Justin Parnell

Warner Pacific's Riley, a 6-8, 210-pounder from Las Vegas, Nev., was named the CCC's Defensive Player of the Year after ranking in the nation's top five in blocked shots (first, 3.7 bpg), defensive rebounds (third, 7.8 rpg) and total rebounds (fifth, 10.8 rpg) through Feb. 22.

OIT's Parnell, a 6-4 transfer from Northwest Nazarene University, earned Newcomer of the Year honors after ranking in the top five of five individual statistical categories during league play, including assists (4.1), 3-point field goals made per game (2.4), assist/turnover ratio (2.35), minutes played (38.9) and scoring (16.5).

Dave Lipp

Lipp, who is in his 23rd season as head coach at Northwest Christian, guided the Beacons to a sixth-place conference finish and a berth in the CCC tournament semifinals. Picked to finish 10th in the 11-team league prior to the season, the Beacons posted an 11-9 CCC record (18-13 overall), including wins over three Top 25 teams in the final weeks of the season.
